As Clear-Cut a Call As

MEN AND WOMEN OF ROCKLAND!

There is nearing completion in this city a splendid Community Building, made possible through the generosity of the Y. M. C. A. Directors and the co-operation of the Federal and City authorities.

Our immediate task is to properly equip this institution that it may adequately serve every Boy and Girl, Man and Woman, Home and Business House in this community.

It means the immediate raising of several thousands of dollars. It means hard work and lots of it. It means sustained and maybe thankless toil. But—it also means the doing of a fine public service—the experience of working shoulder to shoulder for the common good—and plenty good fun in the bargain.

THIS IS A CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

I have been drafted by the Mayor for this job. It calls for a "Committee of Twenty-One" for shock troop duty, and a group, at least one hundred strong, of willing, interested reserves. The organization must be completed and ready to go a week from today. Go up, look at and go inside the new building, and then if you are willing to work on this job, notify the undersigned or telephone the Mayor's office—Rockland 957.

Twenty-Pound Lobster Is Caught By Capt. John Coffin of Port Clyde

Capt. John Coffin of Port Clyde claims the record lobster for 1936. While hauling in his trawl, Capt. Coffin brought up a 20 pounder which was in very good condition despite its age.

Although it is illegal to catch and keep a lobster over five inches the skipper knew that Commissioner Rodney E. Feyler of the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries had requested fishermen to keep abnormal specimens for examination, and brought it ashore.

BRIDGE BIDS OPENED

New Jersey Company Lowest For the Deer Isle-Sedgwick Bridge

Four bids for the superstructure and one for the substructure of the new Deer Isle-Sedgwick bridge were opened at the Hancock County Court House Tuesday, and that for the substructure, submitted by P. Perrini of South Framingham, Mass., at a figure of $789,000, was rejected immediately. The other four bids were taken under consideration. The lowest figure for the superstructure, $355,190, was that of the John A. Roebeling Company of Trenton, N. J. Other bids were:

The Bethlehem Steel Company of Bethlehem, Penna., $387,970.

The Taylor-Fisher Construction Company of New York City, $469,317.

The American Bridge Company of Pittsburgh, Penna., $461,000.

The Federal Government, which provided a grant and a loan to the Bridge District to pay for the bridge, recently granted a year's extension of time for beginning of actual work on the structure.

A Washington despatch says: "William Curtis Bok of Philadelphia, grandson of the late Cyrus H. K. Curtis, former head of the Curtis Publishing Company, which publishes The Saturday Evening Post, was mentioned here today in informed circles as a likely appointee to the United States embassy at Moscow, which has been vacant since William C. Bullitt resigned to take over the American embassy at Paris on the death of Ambassador Jesse Isidor Straus of New York."

WILL SPEAK TO GRANGERS

At the night meeting of Limerock Valley Pomona Grange with Megunticook Grange in Camden Saturday night, under the direction of the host Grange lecturer, the guest speaker will be the well known Maine author Lincoln Colcord of Searsport will speak on "The History of Shipbuilding Days on the Penobscot Bay." Mr. Colcord's interest in seafaring begins with his childhood days, and he has been making an intensive study of Penobscot Bay data with a view to preserving that important history. Mr. Colcord will speak at 8 o'clock, and non-Grange members who are interested in this particular subject are invited.

Head This Week's Boxing Bill—Jawcracker Favreau In Semi-Final

Johnny Lawless outlived the long reach punches of the tall, dark boy last Friday night, but it will need all of his skill to escape punishment when he tackles Gabby Poulin in this week's main bout at the Tillson Avenue Stadium. The crowd asked for this bout, and Oliver promptly matched 'em up.

Cracker Favreau, whose new title is Jawcracker, will have to be on his mettle when he meets Danny Rupp, that smart Gardiner boy who took so well with the fans when he was here a year ago.

Popeye Manta is going to meet Seth Parker again, and the result will show whether he put Seth out with a lucky punch, or whether he is too many guns for the namesake of the radio star.

They are bringing Joe Mandell down from Bangor to take the measure of Walter Reynolds. Eddie Colson and Barney Brann will "hist" the curtain.

Five Thousand Pounds of Seed Lobsters Placed In Government Pound There

As a part of its plans for the artificial rearing of lobsters, the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries, under Commissioner Rodney E. Feyler, Tuesday placed 5,000 pounds of seed lobsters in the U. S. Government pound at Pemaquid. The "seeders" will be maintained until spring and then utilized in the hatching and rearing activity at the Federal Hatchery at Boothbay Harbor.

The U. S. Bureau of Fisheries has offered the facilities of the Boothbay plant to the Department for the purpose of getting its lobster conservation and propagation program launched. The matter of a State rearing plant will be brought up the next session of Legislature and fishermen and dealers alike are supporting the measure.

LITTLEHALE GRAIN MILL GUTTED

The so-called "Littlehale grain mill" on Park street, was swept by fire yesterday afternoon with a huge holiday crowd in attendance to applaud the work of the firemen in handling a large and spectacular but not especially serious blaze as the property had been abandoned several years.

As the old mill nestles among several other large wooden structures Chief Russell used eight hose lines with 3000 feet of hose. The third story and roof were ablaze when the firemen arrived but the flame soon failed under that deluge of water. So quietly did the department work that few patrons of Park Theatre were aware of the nearness of the fire until they found the street filled with hose lines at the end of the afternoon show.

The fire was quite evidently of incendiary origin, possibly at the hands of vicious children or tramps, because when the original blaze was well under control a second fire was discovered in an adjacent section of the building separated by two doors and a passageway. The property is said to be owned by the Knox County Grain Co. and was of small value. There was no insurance. The elevator tower was pulled off by the firemen to prevent possibility of its falling later and inflicting possible injuries to passers-by.

Basketball Season Opens In Thomaston Friday Night—The Outlook There

The boys and girls of Thomaston High School will open the 1936-37 basketball season in this section when they meet the Alumni team at the T.H.S. gym Friday night. The T.H.S. alumnae girls will be augmented by Rockland High School girls.

Coach Sturtevant lost only two girls by graduation, but these two were Captain Barbara Feyler and Anne Jacobs. Miss Feyler was an all-State forward and was the leading scorer in the League for two seasons.

"Styvie" has a habit of producing winning teams and with Captain Jack Felt, Bradlee, Condon, H. Johnson, Coates, and Davis as a nucleus for his 1936-37 team should produce a winning club. Some very promising material in the Freshman Class has reported for practice. It looks like a big year for the Black and White lasses!

Graduation was very disastrous to Coach Wood, taking with it, Libbey, Gil Delano, Captain Art Johnson and Woodcock. Only Art Upham is back from last year's championship club.

Day, Anderson, Merrill Jealous, and C. Delano all played on the Junior varsity and in a few varsity games. This group with the addition of Bernard Delano, a freshman, will make up this year's club.

The forward positions will be taken care of by Day, Merrill, Anderson, and C. Delano. Guards will be the veterans Art Upham, Elwell and Jealous. The pivot position is a toss-up between the Delano brothers. If Bernard plays center, "Chet" will alternate in a forward position. Both are rangy and are excellent shots.

In meeting the Alumni boys, they will meet practically the same team that won the Knox and Lincoln League Championships. Libbey and Woodcock will take care of the forward positions, "Gil" Delano will control the center, and Ray Upham and Art Johnson will play the back-court berths.

Two good games are in store for basketball fans Friday night. A great deal of interest is aroused for these two games.

given by Mrs. Lenora Cooper and embraced a varied assortment of happenings in the religious field. It was the Circle's pleasure to have present Miss Annie E. Ervine of Round Pond, a new member, also president of the Fortnightly Club of that town, who gave a thoughtful paper on St. Augustine, as the first in the study of the saint, but touched upon the place given him in famous art and also upon the indelible imprint made by his beautiful character and teachings. In keeping with the paper a Te Deum was sung by Mrs. Lowe and Mrs. Katherine Veazie with Miss Margaret G. Stahl at the piano.

Social hour and tea drinking were in charge of Mrs. Annabel Berry, Mrs. Nellie Bird, Mrs. Maude Blodgett, Mrs. Hester Chase.

For the December meeting Miss Caroline Jameson will have a paper on St. Francis of Assisi, and current events will be in charge of Mrs. Gladys Heistad. Hostesses will be Mrs. Elta Stoddard, Mrs. Lenora Cooper, Mrs. Minnie Copeland, Mrs. Delilah Cunningham, Mrs. Grace Daniels, Mrs. Ellen Dyer, and Miss Ervine.

HELP! HELP! THEY CRY

And the Help They Want Is Rockland Brawn At Hosmer's Pond Sunday

Enthusiasm and co-operation in developing the winter sports area at Hosmer's Pond continue to grow by leaps and bounds. A more striking example of team work and team play is difficult to picture. Last Sunday, 111 volunteer workers were as busy as beavers. Just before the last roof

Hey, fellers!.. Come up to Hosmer's Pond Sunday and help that winter Sports Project shingles were nailed in place, a man was heard to remark "You can hardly see the roof for the men on it." But more help is needed.

The pace set by these volunteer workers is indicated by the fact that seven weeks ago, not a stone had been turned for the lodge building. Today, after seven days work, a structure 80x26 stands on the shore of the pond, not as yet completed but well on the way.

Inside partitions in the two wings are still to be erected; some window frames set and doors hung. Big headway will be made this weekend on getting the novelty siding on the building and the roof stained. Foundations will be poured for the two large open fireplaces. Much has been accomplished to date but a vast amount remains to be done and the day is getting precariously close when the doors must swing wide for a gala opening. Snow and ice wait for no man. Help is needed to speed the work.

A large number of men can keep busy all day clearing away small trees and brush so that all essential areas are clean and as much of the entire area as possible developed as a beautiful winter parkland. The equally energetic staff of volunteers at Harold Corthell's camp served an excellent free chicken dinner to 111 people. Everything ran as smoothly as in a well organized restaurant.

Did You Say, "Co-operation?" Ernest Johnson, Camden poultry farmer, donated 80 pounds of dressed chicken. Ed Spear, 78-year old carpenter of Rockport, carried off the day's honors in setting window frames. Cliff White, who couldn't work Sunday, spent a full day during the week in shingling, just to do his bit. One carpenter, whose car broke down, walked six miles to the pond. Ernest Rice, artist at hand-wrought iron, offered, unsolicited, to furnish andirons or hinges and latches at a retail value of about $35.

Kennedy Crane, prominent Rockland merchant, sent an unsolicited donation of $50 to the Outing Club president, Gene Rich. Meat has already been donated for the next two Sundays and the spirit of both offers was, "the more the merrier."

Rockland Representation Larger

A few faithful from Rockland have been on the job each weekend. Last week, with appreciation of the scope of the work, the Rockland corps of workers increased to 11. In the group were Jud Flanagan, Kennedy Crane, Jr., Dr. Edward Penaslee, Wallace Kent, Robert Hudson, Fred Snow, John Snow, Donald Leach, Harold Leach, Eben Davis and Donald Clark.

Again the urge is advanced for more Rockland men this week. If the men who go to the pond this week can take along axes and hatchets and old brushes and paint pots that they are willing to use for brown stain it will help speed up the work materially. Talk to the men who were there last week and you'll be sold on the proposition you'll realize that it is a big asset to the entire surrounding region and that your personal effort and contribution is greatly needed and will be more than appreciated.

Incidentally Augusta, Thomaston and Damariscotta have all said, "What can we do? We want to put on membership drives. How else can we help."

In other words the interest is rapidly spreading to a wider and wider field.

SUPERIOR COURT ADJOURNED

Superior Court adjourned at 11 a. m. Tuesday after Justice Bellevue had affixed his signature to a long list of divorce decrees. Court was in session only five full days, but in the course of that brief period 84 civil and 29 criminal cases were disposed of, to say nothing of naturalizations, divorces and other matters which occupy a presiding justice's attention.

The total cost of the term was $1,148.91. The receipts from fines were $1000, of which about $800 goes to the county.

State vs. Raymond M. Carter of St. George. The respondent was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor plead guilty and was fined $110.62.

The following divorces are additional to the list published in Tuesday's issue.

Harriet Frances Warren from Risty Roosevelt Warren, both of Vinalhaven, cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of Mary Louis, Richard Alton and Gilbert Hopkins, minor children, granted to Harriet Frances Warren until further order of Court. Roberts for libellant.

Harriet E. Cross from Brook C. Cross, both of Rockland, for the cause of cruel and abusive treatment. Tirrell for libellant.

Ernest H. Quinn from Una A. Quinn both of Rockland, cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of Dorothy Irene, minor child, granted to Pauline Hooten until further order of Court. Burrows for libellant.

Stanley R. Copeland of Thomaston from Fannie J. Copeland of Rockland cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of Ralph W. and Ruth B., minor children, granted to Mary Grafton until further order of Court. Burrows for libellant.

Dorothy E. Low from Charles R. Low, both of Rockland, cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of Dawn E. Low, minor child granted to Dorothy E. Low until further order of Court. Tirrell for libellant.

Alice Grover of Rockland from Howard Grover of Rockland, cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of Jeannine Yvonne Grover, minor child granted to Alice Grover until further order of Court. Burrows for libellant.

Ernest C. Fuller from Ellen Lasher

Fuller, both of Union for the cause of cruel and abusive treatment. Custody of Samuel E., aged 11, minor child, granted to Ernest C. Fuller until further order of court. Libellee to have privilege of seeing said child at reasonable times and to have said child visit her for reasonable periods during the period of his vacation from school. Smalley for libellant.

A DIVORCE CORRECTION

The divorces published in Tuesday's issue gave the impression that the custody of two minor children was granted to the mother, Ruth Estell Conway. There is but one minor child—Douglas Ernest Conway.

Among those who attended the Bates-Colby game in Lewiston yesterday were Congressman Moran, James E. Connelan, Robert M. Packard, Donald Coughlin and F. A. Winslow. They saw the garnet gridsters slam the cellar door on Colby, although the boys from the Waterville college played brilliantly at times. Among the interested spectators noted by The Courier-Gazette reporter were Fred Brice, coach of the University of Maine team; Phil Jones, coach of the University of Maine freshmen team; and Charles Dwyer, coach of the Hebron Academy team. The smiling Brice admitted his disappointment over the result of the Bowdoin-Maine game, but paid a very high compliment to the winners.

A SUNSET FANCY

Tonight as I sat at my window While the west was all aglow With that strange and wonderful splendor That is fleeting as a dream, I thought that the hands of angels Had flung Heaven's gateways wide, And I caught some glimpse of the glory From the hills on the other side.

Is it not a comforting fancy, This sunset thought of mine, That always the gates of Heaven Swing open at day's decline— That those whose work is all ended From our earthly woes and ills May pass to the peace and gladness That crown the beautiful hills? Perhaps while I sat there dreaming Of the gateway in the west Some weary ones went homeward To a long and endless rest— Went in through the sunset gateway To the city paved with gold, To dwell in the hills of Heaven, And be no longer old!

FUNDS FOR NEEDYMaine To Receive $105,600 From Government, Supplementing Own Efforts

Maine will receive $105,600 from the Federal Government to supplement State funds for aid to the needy aged for the last three months of 1936, according to a statement released today by John Pearson, New England Regional Director for the Social Security Board.

It is estimated that about 4,000 individuals will receive aid through local boards of public welfare co-operating under the Federal-State program of the Social Security Act. "It should be understood that this old-age assistance is limited to those in need," Mr. Pearson said, "whereas the Federal old-age insurance program beginning in January enables workers in commercial and industrial establishments to qualify for a retirement income of from $10 to $85 a month. The monthly insurance payments will be based on total earnings after January 1 in covered employments. They will not be based on need."

"The Federal grants in aid for the public assistance program are being made to the State of Maine in co-operation with the State's plan established under Orders in Council which during the adjournment of the legislature continue the program in effect until the new legislature convenes."

"In this way Maine has been co-operating with, and receiving the full benefits of, the Social Security Act with the exception of the unemployment insurance provisions," Mr. Pearson explained. "This year unless the Maine legislature enacts a law which can receive the approval of The Social Security Board before Dec. 31, Maine business will be unable to receive the tax credit feature provided to employers in such States as New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island."

ITS ANNUAL BAZAARRay and Myron Lead Pleasant Valley Grange To Another Win

Pleasant Valley Grange scored another success Friday when it held its annual bazaar under the guidance of Raymond Anderson and Myron E. Young. The hall was festooned in gay decorations and booths were especially attractive. Auctioneering was carried on at a lively pace, from materials including everything from chickens to fancy work.

Those who served and the booths over which they presided are here listed: Candy, Ethel Connon, Alice Fitzgerald; plants, Mattie Gardner; grubs, Susan Spear, Hazel Bartlett, Betty Hallowell; Sunshine Biscuits, Rufus Hall; canned goods, Thelma Bowden, Nettie Farrand; vegetables, Ed. Tolman, Frank Farrand; home economics, Evangeline Sylvester, Nina McKinney, Vivien Kimball; games, Ted Sylvester; aprons, Alice Wyllie, Julia Post, Eunice Morse; ice cream, F. L. S. Morse; handkerchiefs, Beverly Bowden; Farm Bureau cooked food, Mattie Little, Abbie Allen, Kathryn St. Clair, Frances Farrand; beans, Myron Young; Richard Anderson, Frederick Bartlett, Richard Winslow.

Supper was prepared by a kitchen committee consisting of Eunice Morse, Florence Young, Etta Anderson, Marie Gregory, Thelma Bowden and Hazel Bartlett; waitresses, Evelyn Bartlett, Ethel Connon, Susan Spear, Evangeline Sylvester and Ruth Levenseller.

An entertainment which won the praise of all was given in the main hall with the lecturer in charge. On the program were these numbers: Music and songs, H-B-K Boys; orchestra, "Five Red Hot Peppers"; tap dance, Beverly Bowden; pantomime, "Farm Bureau Gals"; music, "Megunticook Hill Billies"; dance, Margaret Winslow; song, "Barnacle Bill with his Maiden Fair," guess who? accompanied by Marguerite Johnson.

Elise Allen Corner presented a group of her pupils, accompanied by Adelaide Cross, Arthur Adolphson did a tap dance and Arthur Crockett served as accordion player and yodeler. The hall was packed with attentive listeners who at conclusion paid adieus to a pleasant and successful event at Pleasant Valley.

GOLF HIS ONE HOBBYFormer Rockland Pastor Falls Under Spell of Lewiston Interviewer

Time was when the arrival of a new pastor in Lewiston-Auburn was an event heralded with concern by most of the population. They were recognized leaders, bringing social, intellectual and spiritual enrichment to the community.

Today these men, who are still leaders within their own circles of influence, come and go with perhaps too slender regard from the mass of people outside their own denominations.

That is why it seems good, now and then, to contact these clergymen as they arrive to take up new duties and to get under way with them here. Such a man is the Rev. Walter S. Rounds, who is now fairly well adjusted to his position as pastor of the Federated church of Lewiston.

If by any chance you do not know what this Federated Church is, let there be no mistake of thinking it is the United Baptist, which has been proving for some years that in union there is strength. For the Federated venture is new, the final consolidation of two Lewiston parishes, the First Universalist and the Congregational. But these denominational names are now discarded, to be forgotten as soon as possible; and the edifices still in use are called the Sabattus Street Church, and the Pine Street Church.

With almost 100 people at the annual Fall parish supper and with 60 at the ladies' supper, held recently, mere numbers are encouraging, with all their possibilities for united action along church and parish lines.

The Bible school is starting the season's program under the leadership of Ralph A. White; there are High School and college groups which meet for religious study, the latter directed by Prof. August Buschmann of the Bates faculty; the women are being brought together under the leadership of Mrs. Buschmann and Mrs. M. S. F. Green; and the boys are fortunate to have a former trombone player with Sousa's band as their scout master. One of Lewiston's most competent and gifted musicians, Miss Florence A. Wells, continues in charge of the music, with Alexander Lemieux, tenor, as soloist; and there is now being formed a chorus choir under Miss Wells' direction which promises gratifying results.

As for Mr. Rounds, the new pastor, his attitude is conservatively expressed in his own words: "I have come here with no particular program and have made no great promises. I expect to do my work as it opens to me from day to day."

Mr. Rounds' life-trail runs across the country from Kalamazoo, Michigan where he was born, to Ohio where he attended Hiram College and preached for a time, to Illinois where he held a pastorate six years, to New York where he attended Union Theological Seminary, to Cambridge, Mass., where he had a Sabbatical year for research and thence to Maine. Nor does this include his service as chaplain overseas, during the World War.

For 15 years Mr. Rounds was pastor of the Congregational Church in Rockland—his last assignment before coming to Lewiston. Prior to that he had been for six months stated supply at the First Parish Unitarian Church in Portland.

College friends from Ohio are happily scattered through Maine; and it is unusual that in one State should be located six people who were students at a small Mid-West college like Hiram while he was there. Besides Mr. Rounds and his wife, there were Prof. Marion Bradshaw of Bangor Theological Seminary; Dr. and Mrs. Paul Wakefield, until recently located at Fairfield State Sanatorium; and the Rev. Thomas Cleaves of Skowhegan.

It was while this group was attending Hiram college, that Vachel Lindsay, who won recognition before his recent death as a American poet of more than ordinary talent, was a student there; and Lindsay and Mr. Rounds became personal friends, the latter being one year ahead of the former.

In this connection, Mr. Rounds referred to his fondness for poetry, and his familiarity especially with the work of Lindsay, Millay and Kipling. Philosophy also has been a favorite study. But sociology and economics have been his major consideration, and the world problems of today bring to him the thrill of shock and challenge. He was fortunate to have had a year of graduate study along these lines at Columbia University.

"I probably have come most under the influence of two men," he confessed, in the course of this informal and delightful chat, at his White street home. "They are Albert Schweitzer, an Alsatian who is philosopher, musician, scientist, surgeon, philanthropist, lecturer and author, his last book being a study of comparative religious ideas, as down through history they permeated the

SWAMPED CROSBY HIGHCoach Matheson's Team Closes Season Which Had One Black Mark

The speed and agility of Jimmy Skinner, Rockland High backfield ace, was too great a handicap for a weak Crosby High football aggregation to overcome at Community Park yesterday afternoon, as the local jack-rabbit personally scored all four of Rockland's touchdowns to give his team a 25 to 0 decision over the Belfast outfit. The game brought the local gridiron festivities to a close for the season, leaving Rockland with a record of five games won, two lost and one tied.

It is a matter of opinion what the final score would have been had Skinner been able to play the entire game, but a nasty crack on the knee forced him to retire half way through the second quarter and without his services Rockland's attack did not function too consistently.

It was plainly evident in the early minutes of the game that the visitors were no match for the locals, as Skinner broke loose on the first play for a 55 yard touchdown run that was nullified by an offside penalty. But in less than two minutes later Skinner had again crossed the goal line on an end run for his first contribution to the Rockland score.

His next offering resulted from a lateral pass from Murgita, who also did some fancy stepping for the Rockland cause. And after Skinner had scored his third touchdown on a sprint of some 40 yards many of the customers started for a downtown fire which had broken out, perhaps to get cooled off for Mr. Skinner was indeed very hot.

After the two teams had changed goals for the second period Crosby attempted to get into scoring range with long forward pass which Bill various religious beliefs of the East; and Karl Barth, a Swiss professor and commentator on the Bible, whose literary work has had slight translation as yet into English. "Of course I do not agree with both altogether," he remarked. "But I have a deep respect for so great a mind and so thorough a scholarship as Schweitzer has; and I am in sympathy with Barth's renewal of the old-time emphasis on the need of the world for realization of the reality and power of God in order to bring about its salvation from the ills that now beset it so violently everywhere. It is a recognition of Divine Power that will bring order out of these chaotic times, I believe. Thus can the church be a living force in moulding public opinion. Today there seems to be a decided trend to this positive thinking and preaching."

Mr. Rounds is wary of applying categorical names to the attitudes of groups or of individuals, for the excellent reason that such terms have different meanings to different people. Yet he feels that in the best sense of the word the Protestant church today is liberal.

Golf is his only hobby, and his recreation he indulged in at Rockland, with most delightful associations. Asked why he chose the ministry for his life-work, Mr. Rounds smiled at his recollection that he was only 10 years old when he became content that he would become a clergyman. This secret remained pocketed in his own mind, until the night before he entered college, he said, when he confessed his ambition to his parents. His mother was active in the Congregationalist faith, his father in the Church of the Disciples, which in the Middle West is strong and is much akin to the Baptist. Her people came from New Hampshire, and his from Massachusetts, so that it was not strange that eventually New England should claim this son.

It already has been indicated that Mr. and Mrs. Rounds were in college together at Hiram. She came from a family of preachers, the Darleys of Scotch origin. Her father, two uncles, two brothers, three cousins and a nephew are in the ministry—an unusual record, running through six generations. When, in conclusion, it was hinted that their own children ought, logically, to follow his profession, Mr. Rounds shook his head negatively. "No," he said, "Philip W. Harvard '29; is an electrical engineer with the Bell Telephone laboratories in New York; and William, Bowdoin '34, is now in his third year at Harvard Law school."

WHAT IS NEW AT COMMUNITY BUILDING

The windows are being placed today and the operation makes a radical change in the appearance of the structure.

Rapid progress is being made on the pouring of the cement base in the main auditorium. All signs point to its being in readiness for the dances and basketball classics promised for the Christmas recess.

The large area on the west is being gravelled and levelled for a commodious parking space.

The street line on the narrow junction of Union and Limerock streets is to be moved back to the foot of the large elm giving a wide sweeping corner capable of handling a large volume of traffic.

Large exterior bracket lights are to be mounted on the Limerock street face of the building.

Ceilings are being put in place in place in several of the rooms as the wiring and plumbing are completed.

The main entrance on Limerock street will be reached by a very wide brick area from street line with no steps and a gentle slope.

Those glass brick windows in the auditorium attract much attention. They are the first seen in this section but are very common in the larger centers and have proven very practical.

The morning alarm on Armistice Day was a test call from Box 43.

Milton S. Dick is at the Togus hospital for observation and treatment.

The annual Relief Corps fair takes place today with a concert in the afternoon, bazaar and many other attractions. Free admission.

A mild winter is prophesied by E. B. Rideout, the well known meteorologist. We always did think that "E. B." was a pretty good kind of a feller.

The Sewing Circle of the Auxiliary to V.F.W. will meet Friday night with Mrs. Elizabeth Cormier, Crescent street, to tack a quilt.

Farrell Sawyer is among the lucky Rockland hunters. Brought down a 100-pound doe near Greenville, arriving home Wednesday with his prize.

Ruth's Lobster Shoppe at Tenant's Harbor has closed after a very successful season. Miss Barter would like to have stayed open longer, at the request of her many friends, but due to a New York business trip she is unable to do so. She thanks her many friends for their patronage.

A battered motor car one side of which had been crudely and temporarily repaired attracted much attention on the street Tuesday afternoon. It is said to have figured in a fatal accident at Waterville last July, but why it has remained in that condition ever since probably concerns the present owner alone.

The Vinalhaven & Rockland Steamboat Co. goes on its winter schedule, Nov. 14 with steamer North Haven leaving Swan's Island at 5:30 a. m., Stonington 6:30; North Haven 7:30; Vinalhaven 8:15, arriving in Rockland at 9:30. On the return she will leave Tillson's Wharf, Rockland at 1:30 p. m. making way landings and arriving at Swan's Island about 6 o'clock. 136-137

Burton White's house on Lawn avenue got into the limelight Tuesday afternoon through the medium of a chimney fire. The fire department attended to the case.

A meeting of the Arts and Crafts Society was held Monday night at the What-Not Shop, with classes conducted in knitting, cross stitch, wool flowers and the various hobbies of the members. The new project for next Monday will be "Mittens," the club having been invited to meet with Mrs. Austin Tibbetts, Pleasant street.

The city had a strange and involuntary visitor Tuesday afternoon in the person of a tramp whose eccentric actions impelled a suburbanite to notify the sheriff's office. The man was soon in custody at the Court House where his picturesque appearance attracted much attention. His head was thatched with bushy red hair, his face was covered with a thick gray beard, and such features as remained in the open completed a very spectacular appearance. On his back he carried two heavy packs. After an examination by Drs. C. D. North and F. P. Brown he was judged to be mentally unbalanced and was sent to the insane hospital in Bangor, whither he was taken by Sheriff Ludwick. The man said he was a native of Russia and had been a dry goods salesman in Brooklyn. Looking for new material, the movies would have found it in him.

Mrs. Ellena Fredette who has been employed with the field force of the survey for the National Archives, has been transferred to the office of the regional director, E. K. Gould at the Federal building.

Walter E. Weeks, George E. Dunton, William Freeman, Robert A. Snow and Frank Perkins are gathering up the spare deer in Washington County. With Mr. Weeks it is an annual occasion covering a long period of years.

The combined committees of the Relief Corps fair held a bazaar party at G.A.R. hall Monday evening the following winning prizes, Mrs. Margaret Rackliffe, Mrs. Caroline Davis, Mrs. Geneva Richardson, Mrs. Clara Lermond, Mrs. Jennie Curtis, Mrs. Lizzie Smith, Mrs. Bertha Higgins, Mrs. Gladys Thomas, Mrs. Nora Stickney, Mrs. Elizabeth Crockett and Mrs. Elizabeth Mills.

Steamer North Haven starts on her arduous winter schedule Saturday, leaving Tillson's Wharf at 1:30 p. m. for Vinalhaven, North Haven, Stonington and arriving at Swan's Island at 6 o'clock. On her trip this way she leaves Swan's Island at 5:30 in the morning, makes way landings and arrives at Rockland about 9:30. Steamer W. S. White which has been handling the Vinalhaven run will be withdrawn from service upon arrival from the island on her Saturday morning trip.

The middle store in Farnsworth block, next to Penobscot Grill, is in the hands of carpenters and painters.

Two carloads of Rockland Elks were in Augusta Tuesday night to see the degree conferred upon Governor-elect Lewis O. Barrows by the Augusta Club.

Snow fences are being erected along exposed highways giving evidence that the Highway Department takes these "mild winter" prophets rather lightly.

The opening of the eight-mile bay bridge in San Francisco today will be broadcast at 1:30 p. m. Among the local citizens who will listen with interest are Roscoe Larrabee and Charles M. Lawry who spent part of the year in that vicinity.

It takes considerable of a circumstance to phase City Clerk Keene but he was frankly amazed to find in the reputable columns of The Courier-Gazette a notice under Augusta date line that said E. R. Keene of Rockland had petitioned the Governor and Council for a recount of votes cast in the election of Sept. 14 on Referendum questions No. 1, 2 and 3. City Clerk Keene vigorously denies that he has petitioned anybody to recount anything. The item in question came to this newspaper as a paid advertisement from the office of the State Printer.

Limerock Valley Pomona Grange will attend the Rockland Methodist Church Sunday morning. All subordinate members are invited to meet the Pomona members in the church vestry at 10:15.

The task of equipping the new Community Building will be a major activity of this city the coming winter. The Mayor and Building Committee have drafted John M. Richardson to organize a group willing to take on this fine bit of public service along the general lines of the Community and School Improvement Association which a decade ago built and improved Community Park, recently turned over to the city.

Armistice Day in this city saw the rededication of Winslow-Holbrook square, the brief services being participated in by Winslow-Holbrook Post and Auxiliary and allied organizations. The Grand Army was represented by Allen A. Kelley. Rev. Corwin H. Olds, chaplain of the Post, offered prayer, and the dedicatory services were conducted by Gerald U. Margeson, commander of the Post. "Taps" was sounded by Michael Ristano. In the evening the Post held its annual Armistice ball at the C.A.C. armory, with a goodly attendance.

Harvest dinner, Odd Fellows hall, Tuesday, 11 to 1, 35c; auspices Miriam Rebekah Lodge, public supper—adv.

Lighter Sophia has practically completed the laying of the granite retaining wall at the City Dump, foot of Talbot avenue. In a very short time now this area will be completely filled and the city must seek a new place to dispose of its refuse. The present filled area is being leveled and graded forming valuable land.

MARRIED
BACKSTROM-STEVENSON—At St. George, Nov. 5, by William E. Shearer, J. P. E. Backstrom, and Pearl Stevens.
WINCHENBACH-PITCHER—At South Waldboro, Oct. 31, by Rev. Horace Taylor, Nelson N. Winchenbach, and Gretel E. Pitcher.

IN MEMORIAM
In sweet and loving memory of our dear son and brother, Jeannette Robbins, who passed away on Nov. 10th, 1934. We can not think we have lost him for that could never be. He has only gone on a journey. Where God guards him constantly. If a love like his could vanish Heaven and earth would pass away. Though we grieve, we're sure our dear one is close to us each day. Father, mother, sisters and brother, Searmont.

CARD OF THANKS
The kindness of friends, neighbors and relatives during our recent sorrow was deeply appreciated. The use of cars was a kindly helpfulness for which we are especially thankful.
Mrs. Sylvia Wallace and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Prior and family, Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Prior and family, Friendship.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our sincere thanks to all those who in any way helped us in our recent bereavement, in the loss of our dear father, Gardiner H. Jameson. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Jameson, Bernard and Roger Jameson.

Miss Helen Erickson, student nurse at the Augusta General Hospital, is spending a vacation with her mother Mrs. Charles Erickson.

Armistice Day lived up to the radio weather predictions by being fair and cold. The morning saw a temperature of only 18 above, but the sun riding higher in the heavens sent it up into the 30's and the day was all that one could wish at this season of the year. The surface of small ponds remained skimmed with ice all day, a sure sign that friend Winter is in the offing.

A Pennsylvania farmer tried to rid his orchard of mice by every means, including poison bait and non-venomous snakes. He finally met success by introducing owls, skunks and opossums.

Eastern Star Inspection

The annual inspection of Naomi Chapter, O.E.S. was held Friday in Masonic hall. The inspecting officer was Mrs. Leah Davis of Thomaston, district deputy grand matron for the 12th district.

Grace Chapter of Thomaston and Forget-me-not of South Thomaston were special guests. Members were present from Golden Rod, Rockland; Harbor Light, Rockport; Seaside, Camden; Beach, Lincolnville; Ivy, Warren; Rose of Sharon, Augusta; Wismun, Waldoboro; Anchor, Searsport; Harbor View, Deer Isle; Mt. Pisgah, Boothbay; and Crescent, East Boothbay. The Grand Chapter was represented by Mrs. Grace Dodge of East Boothbay, Grand Adah and Mrs. Gertrude Boddy of Rockland, Grand Ruth. The Chapter was glad to have present Past Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. Eunice Larrabee of Searsport, who, as grand matron, inspected the Chapter last year.

About 175 members and guests sat down to a fine banquet which had been prepared under the chairmanship of Mrs. Fanniss Morris and was served by the brothers of the Chapter. Decorations were in red, white and blue in the spirit of Armistice Day. The tables were decorated with red and blue with a centerpiece on each consisting of a realistic cannon flanked on each side by a pyramid of candy cannon balls. The favor at each plate was a clam shell sloop with red and blue sails, the flag at the top bearing the name "D.D.G.M. Leah" in honor of the deputy and the number "93" to represent her Chapter. The decorations were in charge of Mrs. Harriet Rawley and Mrs. Nina Leach.

During the meeting Mrs. Davis extended greetings of the Grand Chapter and expressed her pleasure with the manner in which the work was done. Mrs. Larrabee spoke of the recently purchased International Headquarters of the O.E.S. in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Dodge and Mrs. Boddy also spoke briefly. In the course of the evening, the worthy matron, Mrs. Elizabeth Imbach, in behalf of the Chapter, presented a table lamp to Mrs. Davis.

At the close of the meeting a program was enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Cant and Mrs. Mable Rose. In the first skit characters were a bride, Miss Evelyn Morris; husband, Mrs. Harriet Wheeler; a doctor, William Imbach; while biscuits and a vacuum cleaner furnished much amusement. Vocal selections by Gilbert Auld and a story by Mrs. Nina Leach followed. In the "Family Album" with Mrs. Aune Bragdon as reader, pictures were posed by Mr. and Mrs. William Imbach, Mr. and Mrs. John Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Merriott, Mrs. Blanche Simmons, Mrs. Belle Anderson, Mrs. Ella Davis, Mrs. Madeline Baum, Mrs. Winnie Milne, Mrs. Harriet Rawley, Mrs. Jessie Harris, Miss Evelyn Morris, Harlan Bragdon, Clayton Hunnewell and Charles Rose. At the close of the program the gathering dispersed to the strains of "Auld Lang Syne."

HELPFUL ADVICE TO ACNE SUFFERERS

For acne pimples affecting the outer or surface layer of the skin, here is advice that will help improve your complexion.

Every night at bedtime, wash your face thoroughly with Resinol Soap and hot water. Do not rub. Follow with a dash of cold water and dry thoroughly but gently. Then apply Resinol Ointment to the affected skin and leave it on all night. Do this every night, and watch the improvement.

Local treatment is advised as a helpful aid in acne cases, and for more than 40 years the ingredients of Resinol have been found effective.

Boston Mother Tells a Secret

How do you keep your children so nice and healthy? This question pleases Mrs. McKay, who now tells her neighbors: "I happened to hear about Laxative Round Worm Expeller through a relative—as my little boy was for some time troubled with loss of appetite, restlessness at night and at times was very fretful, I decided to try Dr. True's Elixir. . . . He began to improve immediately and in a very short time he was well. . . . I would never be without it." — Mrs. E. G. McKay, 429A Saratoga St., Boston, (Mass.).

Dr. True's Elixir

Signs of Round Worms are: Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, offensive breath, hard and full stomach with pains, pale face, eyes heavy, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, etc.

Dr. True's Elixir laxative round worm expeller—made from imported herbs . . . mild and pleasant to take . . . for children and adults.

EARLY MORNING
(For The Courier-Gazette)
O sleeping world, awake at last, I meet you in the dawn.
To watch your golden head be crowned by hands of early morn.
I breathe the scent that's your perfume.
The freshness of your dew
And taste its flavored splendor
Before 'tis slipped by you.
I hear that which awakens you—
The faint beginnings of a noisy world
That, once stopped short, now moves again.
Its silence into some dark dungeon hurled.
My hope is that you will kindly smile
Upon any soul that swells to such bliss,
And hide in other waiting hearts
That feel a fraction this!

NEW WARDEN NAMED

For the Washington County Unit—Ernest Woodward Transferred

Changes in the Washington County unit of the warden force of the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries were announced by Commissioner Feyler Tuesday.

Daniel Johnson of Lubec has been appointed to fill a vacancy in that section of the coast. As the result of the death of William L. Atwater of Jonesport, recently, Ernest Woodward has been transferred from Corea to Jonesport. A warden for the Corea territory has not been appointed as yet.

The Department now has 27 wardens on duty. These men cover the entire coast and the principal islands carrying out the work of the Department in maintaining and improving the standards of the fishing industry.

Safety Feature

LATEST TO BE added to the Buick cars for 1937 is this horn mounted on the steering wheel of the new cars. Within finger reach from the steering wheel, it makes it unnecessary for the driver to remove either hand from the wheel to sound the horn as when passing another car or sounding a pedestrian warning. Since the need for horn warning usually coincides with a need for two-handed control of the car, the device is regarded as an outstanding contribution to safe driving.

At Gregory's the fall prices fit as smoothly as the fall clothing.

Did you ever stop to think that no two men are exactly alike in bank balance and that to cater to a city full of men, a store like this must have ALL priced clothing?

Maybe you were a $45 overcoat man until an insurance premium put crimp into your plans. Maybe you were going to put $40 into a suit until a dentist's x-ray knocked your plans galley west.

No matter what amount you are building up or reduced to, we have the clothes and no one need accept a reduction in style just because he has had an increase in other expenses.

Fall Suits and Topcoats $20 to $45

New Shirts in attractive patterns $1.50, $2.00

New Slippers $3.00, 4.00

CAMDEN

Oscar Chapman, Lawrence Dailey Wayne Chapman and Robert Monroe have returned from a hunting trip at Mopang on the Airline Road. They brought back three bucks and a small doe.

The Central Maine Power Co. will conduct a cooking school at the Congregational chapel under the direction of Carrie Williams Fowler, Nov. 18, Dec. 15, Feb. 16 and March 23.

The St. Thomas Women's Guild will meet today at the usual hour.

The Press Herald Tuesday told of a suicide note being found at a West Falmouth farm, signed by John Whyott alias Philip Mylin, claiming to be from Camden. The man was a restaurant cook and had been employed on the Quoddy Project. The Camden directory does not give either name.

The annual installation of Amity Lodge, F.A.M., will be held tonight, Thursday, and these officers will be installed by District Deputy Adin L. Hopkins: Worthy Master, Jesse H. Bates; senior warden, Karl Thompson; junior warden, Harold Wilson; senior deacon, Clarence Thomas; junior deacon, Horace Robinson; secretary, Leslie D. Ames; treasurer, Fred W. Elwell; senior steward, Donald Rollins; junior steward, John Felton; tyler, Lovell Thompson; chaplain, Warren B. Conant; marshal, Richard Damerly. The installation will be attended by Masons and their ladies, and will be followed by dancing and refreshments.

The W.C.T.U. will meet with Mrs. Charles Cleveland Friday afternoon. The annual Thanksgiving donation party will be held at Community Hospital Nov. 19 from 2 to 5 o'clock. Vegetables, canned goods, jellies and any housekeeping articles will be gratefully received. Refreshments will be served to guests.

Alonzo Reed of Boston, Irving Engley, Bertram Engley, Russell Heal, Ralph Heal, Ralph Brown, Roger Heal and Dan Perry of Lincolnville and Clarence Mitchell have returned from a hunting trip in Washington county. Each brought back a deer.

Miss Teresa F. Arau leaves this morning for Malden, Mass., where she will be guest of Miss Aldine Gilman.

Lucky gunners Tuesday and Wednesday were: Irving Hansell a buck; Milton Dyer a doe; Richard Blackington, a doe; Emerson Wadsworth, a buck; and Charles Rhodes, Kenneth Knight and Walter Carroll of Rockport each a doe.

The Congregational Ladies' Circle will meet at the parish house Wednesday and the monthly missionary meeting will be held.

Burned in Explosion

Friends of Frank E. Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barnes of Megunticook street, who was seriously injured Nov. 2 in a gasoline explosion will be pained to learn he is still in the Chelsea Memorial Hospital with his name on the danger list.

Mr. Barnes is chief engineer on the motor barge Mary L. Connolly and was in the engine room when the explosion occurred. The barge was unloading gasoline. Mr. Barnes was enveloped in flames before he realized what had happened. Knowing his only escape from death was the water, he leaped overboard. He was rescued and taken at once to the hospital. He was burned on the hands legs and arms and received severe bruises when he jumped into the water.

WITH EXTENSION AGENTS AND THE KNOX-LINCOLN FARM BUREAU

Agriculture

The Knox-Lincoln County Dairy Herd Improvement Association has been started. The tester is Robert Edgecomb of Hampden and the first herd to be tested is that of B. H. Nichols of Hope. This will be followed by Jethro Pease's herd, also in Hope; and the third herd will be that of H. H. Nash of Camden. A complete list of herds will be given next week. County Agent Wentworth, and Donald Corbett, assistant dairy specialist, are arranging the schedule of calls.

Every cow in every herd will be tested and profit per cow will be kept in a special herd book that is kept by tester Edgecomb. A monthly publication, the "Milk Pail" will be sent to all members of the Association and to others who request it, giving a complete summary of all herds in the eleven Dairy Herd Associations in the State.

Orders for over 500 fruit trees for Knox and Lincoln counties went into the State Horticulturist this week. McIntosh and Corland seemed to be the important varieties ordered.

AIDING THE UNEMPLOYED

Manager Dyer of National Employment Bureau Tells What's What

If you are looking for a job, attempting to staff a factory, or trying to locate a maid with whom it would be safe to leave the children, you no longer have to carry on your efforts alone. In almost every community in the country you will find a public employment office administered by the State or the Federal Government that will help you.

Finding Job Opportunities

John Jobhunter, the Government realizes, is typically an earnest, competent individual. His problem is recognized to be not an individual one but part of a much larger situation, a situation governed by forces beyond his control. Seasonal, cyclical, or technological unemployment may be little more than names to him, although the fact of his unemployment is a very painful reality. In this plight the Government offers him the services of a free public employment office, to which thousands of job openings are reported each month. A much larger number of opportunities than he could possibly discover by his own efforts are thus brought to his attention.

What the Employment Service Does And What It Can't Do

Its purpose is to conduct a modern, efficient system of public employment offices for the mutual benefit of employers and those seeking work. In its own sphere it performs and will continue to perform a public service as important to a community as public-health clinics and schools.

In addition to being of service to individual job seekers and employers, the Employment Service plays an important part as an impartial, effective recruiting agency for public-works projects. About 11½ million workers in the past three years have been referred to Government works projects through public employment offices.

As unemployment - compensation laws are passed in each State, the Employment Service will be called upon to perform many new functions. Benefits will be paid through the public employment offices, and they will be called upon to determine not only the fact of unemployment but also the fact that no suitable employment is available to the benefit claimant.

Who Registers With the Employment Service?

The men and women who register at the public employment office present a complete cross section of unemployed workers of every trade, industry, and profession. The occupational code used by the Service includes 9000 different job classifications. In a single day an employment office may receive the registrations of a landscape architect, a soft-shoe tap dancer, a typist, a biologist, display artist, a wool winder, a laundress, a glass worker, a laborer, a tree surgeon, a delicatessen clerk, or a mallet die worker. Each one of these applicants is given a private interview with a staff member, who specializes in finding jobs for people in a related group of occupations. All the useful information about an applicant's work history is recorded on a registration card and filed. When an employer notifies this office of an opening, this file is consulted for the best qualified registrants, who are called in for reinterviews to make sure that they "fill the bill" in every respect. The Employment Service never actually hires a worker except, of course, for its own staff. Its function is to refer to an employer the number of workers he wishes to interview for his position. The workers who are referred to any openings are carefully selected from the available applicants, but whether the applicant is hired or not rests with the individual applicant and employer.

How Employers Benefit by the Service

From an employer's point of view the public employment office has many advantages. It saves time in interviewing, because the first general selection of applicants is taken care of by the employment office. Only the best available are referred for his consideration. In addition to saving him the trouble of interviewing all applicants as they present themselves, the Employment Service offers the employer the benefit of the widest possible range of applicants from which to choose. If his needs cannot be met locally, the Employment Service, through a system for the exchange of information about work opportunities can comb the country until the right person for the job is found. Through the use of this clearance system, an employment office recently furnished an employer with an expert dog trainer, practically the only one in the country who knew how to condition Riesenschauers, Rettwerlers, Dachschunds, Doberman Pinschers, and other rare German dogs.

Old and New Methods of Employment: A Concrete Example

Let us take a concrete example of old-style hiring and hiring via the Employment Service. A certain department store ran a classified advertisement for 50 salespeople to assist at a special sale. The following morning, instead of the hundred or so young women that were anticipated, an eager scrambling crowd of 1600 presented themselves. When the dust of the battle had cleared and the personnel manager was able to take stock of the situation he found the following:

Debit

25 hours of the personnel staff's time spent in 5-minute interviews with the first 300 applicants who applied.

1500 discouraged job seekers.

$310 wasted in carfare by unemployed people who could ill afford it.

Credit

50 salespeople chosen, more or less at random.

Had the Employment Service handled the matter, the ledger account would have been different. The employer would have placed his order indicating exactly what type of salespeople he wanted from the standpoint of experience, education, and personality. The employment service would have selected from its file the cards of previously interviewed and classified registrants who most nearly met the specifications. Of these, perhaps 75 would have been referred to the employer for his final selection. The employer would have been spared hundreds of interviews with unsatisfactory applicants. The other jobseekers would have been spared the discomfort of the trip to the store, a tiresome wait, considerable time and much disappointment. Incidentally their good will as patrons of his store would not have been jeopardized by their disappointment.

There's never enough Rytex Christmas Cards to go around... because last minute shoppers make it impossible to produce and supply the demand. If you wish to save disappointment, we suggest that you order your Rytex Christmas Cards this week... the price, as of old, is only 50 for $1.00 including your name on the cards and 50 envelopes to match.
